Gypsies Nearly Succeeded In stealing $100 From William Morrison-Barnet Girl In Peril In Cuba.

(C. E. Hazelton, Correspondent.) Monday morning three automobiles loaded with gypsies arrived in town, going about trying to tell fortunes. Six of the women went into William Morrison's grain store and asked to tell his fortune. While one took his hand another one took his pocketbook containing nearly $100. Before he could get the one that took it she had passed it to the one beside her, and this one to the next one. Charles Cohn, who happened to be near, saw Harris of New Orleans is visiting Mr. the one who had the purse and grabbed it from her. Byron Berry recently received letter from his daughter, Lou, who Hinch and Francis and Glen Hastie has been residing in Cuba for the past few years, telling a very tragic experience which she had just gone through, barely escaping with her life. Miss Berry was living on the ranch of a wealthy Lowell man by the name of Stoughton, situated about a mile from the village of San Miguel. There had been an uprising among the colored element of the village known as the "Oriental negroes," and for weeks she had not dared to go to bed without keeping a loaded revolver constantly at hand. One night upon hearing a great commotion outside, she stepped out on her piazza and witnessed the burning of the entire village of San Miguel. Many of the people fled to her for refuge. She housed and fed 23 one morning. Three days later her home was surrounded by the mob, and she barely escaped with her life. She was obliged to travel for miles under great difficulties, sometimes wading in water to her waist, then riding on a crowded hoat without lights. She at last landed in New York harbor, only to be refused the privilege of landing for hours, but was finally able to get to the home of her friends in Lowell,

HE ALMOST FELL DOWN.

A. M. Hunsucker, Bogue Chitto, Miss., felt so grateful because of being freed from pain and distress that he wrote the following letter: "I was suffering from rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, also dizziness; would almost fall down at times. I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and two boxes gave me entire relief." Disordered kidneys give warning by pains in side and back, rheumatic aches, sore muscles, swollen joints, puffiness under eyes, tired and languid feeling.—CHARLES A. SEARLES & CO.
